

Mark Fineman

John C. Moloney

DEAN LINDOERFER has been named assistant managing editor for graphics at the El Paso Herald-Post.

Lindoerfer has been features design chief at the Dayton Journal Herald and was formerly photo editor. He earlier had been assistant news editor at the Albany (N.Y.) Knickerbocker News and was managing editor of the Norwalk (Conn.) Morning News.

JOHN G. CAMPI, director of promotion and public relations for the New York Daily News since mid-1982, has been appointed vice president of promotion and public relations.

Campi has worked in every major area of sales and sales management in the advertising department during 23 years with the newspaper.

Appointments in the advertising department of Syracuse (N.Y.) Newspapers announced by advertising director ROBERT HENNESSEY, include the following:

FRANCIS X. SKALLY, to retail advertising manager. Before Syracuse. Skally was director of advertising for Gannett Rochester Newspapers and before that was with the Buffalo Courier-Express.

WILLIAM BROWNING, to major accounts manager. He joined the newspapers in 1967 as an account execuitve and has been retail advertising manager since 1981.

ROBERT BIRD, to retail group advertising manager. He previously was assistant retail manager.

JIM KLEINKLAUS, to retail group advertising manager. Since joining the newspaper in 1984, he has served as zoned advertising manager.

KEN BRILL, to zoned group advertising manager. He previously was the shopping center/special sections manager.

MARK FINEMAN has joined the Los Angeles Times as chief of the paper's newly established bureau in Manila, the Philippines. The Times now has 23 foreign news bureaus.

Fineman has served as Asia correspondent for the Philadelphia Inquirer, based in New Delhi, since 1981. He won the 1985 George Polk Award for a series on the Communist rebels in the Philippines and a citation for excellence from the Overseas Press Club that same year for his coverage of India.

At the San Francisco Chronicle DANIEL E. ROSENHEIM has been appointed economics editor; KEN CASTLE, editor of the new Outdoors section in the Monday Sporting Green, and HOWARD FINBERG, photography/graphics editor.

Rosenheim previously was a Chicago Tribune financial reporter and also worked for the Chicago Sun-Times and the Hammond (Ind.) Times.

Castle was formerly editor of the San Jose Mercury-News Venture sec-

Finberg joined the Chronicle from the Chicago Tribune, where he had been graphics editor, picture editor, copy editor and makeup editor. Finberg also has worked for the New York Times as assistant picture/ graphics editor.

John A. Park Jr.

Expertise and Reliability For Owners Selling Daily Newspapers

(919) 782-3131 BOX 17127, RALEIGH, N.C. 27619

30 Years Nation-Wide Personal Service

JOHN C. MOLONEY, assistant manager of general advertising and manager of automotive advertising at the Cleveland Plain Dealer for the past 21 years, was named general advertising manager.

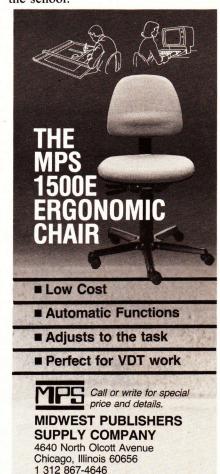

He succeeds NEILL VAN DEVENTER. general advertising manager since 1974, who retired after 25 years at the newspaper.

DAVID NADEAU, assistant manager of the market research department, becomes manager of automotive accounts; and AL D'EMILIA, supervisor of food advertising, assumes Nadeau's former post.

JAMES BISSLAND has been appointed chair of the journalism department in the School of Mass Communication at Bowling Green State University in Ohio. On the faculty since 1976, Dr. Bissland is the first chair of the department which was established when the former School of Journalism and the radiotelevision-film program were merged this past summer into the School of Mass Communication.

As an associate professor, Bissland headed the public relations sequence and is director of graduate studies for the school.

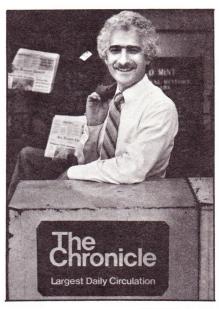

continued from page 38

Thomas Wright . . . In Auburn, R.G. Makabe was promoted to assistant news editor . . . New features editor at the Daily Republic, Fairfield, is Cheryl Bradt . . . Joan Deutsch is the new features editor at the Sacramento Union . . . Dennis Webber was named sports editor of the Union in Grass Valley . . . Southwest Riverside County Newspapers named Greg Normand as new ME of the Rancho News in Temecula and Jim Andres, Southwest's former news editor, as ME of the Sun-Tribune . . . R. Gregory Mellen, sports editor at the Palisadian-Post in Pacific Palisades was promoted to associate editor . . . New Sanger Herald editor is Brian Covert, who was a reporter for the Daily Tribune in Lake Tahoe before joining the Herald . . . Sally Ann Maas, features editor at the Press-Enterprise in Riverside, was elevated to assistant managing editor for features and art . . . Robert Weaver is now managing editor of the California Delta Newspapers, including the Antioch Daily Ledger and the Pittsburg Post Dispatch . . . Ann Hurst has become assistant ME/features at the San Jose Mercury News

CLOSE THE DOOR: Geoffery Precourt, hired by Will Hearst last summer as managing editor for features at the San Francisco Examiner, never got that title. Hearst had hired David Burgin as editor and Burgin didn't like the description. Precourt ended up being called deputy managing editor. Formerly managing editor of New York's Adweek magazine and Sunday magazine editor of the Boston Herald-American, Precourt never quite got the swing of things at the Monarch of the Dailies and, in February, returned to New York, this time to go into the advertising business. But he will go into the annals of Examiner history for his whoopee cushion and baseball-pitching Godzilla

NEW EXERS: Eric Brazil, former Gannettoid (Salinas Californian, USA Today) to general assignment . . . Jane Kay, award-winning environmental reporter, late of the

Courtesy the Chronicle Howard I. Finberg

New photo/graphics editor

Tuscon Citizen, to, get this, environmental reporter ... Lisa Krieger comes to San Francisco as medical writer from Washington, D.C. . . . Dick Rogers, who was city editor and then managing editor at the Daily Review in Hayward, to morning city editor . . . In sports, Larry Yant, who had been laying out those color sports covers for the Orange County Register, and Ross McKeon, formerly of the Valley Times in Pleasanton . . . In business, new real estate writer and all-around utility infielder is Tim Urbonya, formerly business editor of the San Gabriel Valley Tribune New reporters include Alex Neill and Marilee Enge, both formerly of feed/back fame

SCIENTIFIC BENT: Alison Gwinn, late of the Examiner copy desk, was named science editor and produces the newly created science section, "Spectra." Veteran reporter Jane Ferrell will be writing for the section

FUTURE DRAFT CHOICE: Not long after long-time Examiner assistant metro editor John Arthur announced he was going to the Los Angeles Times' Orange County bureau, the Ex hired the Times' assistant news editor, Martin Halstuk, as night city editor

FEBRUARY FLIPS: Jan Kamman, who used to be the managing editor of the Tuscon Citizen, had hardly arrived in San Francisco to become the new foreign/national editor of the Examiner, when he was whisked off to Carmel's Quail Lodge for the annual management retreat. In other management changes in February. Eric Best was named San Francisco City Hall bureau chief; David McCumber (former Sunday editor) was named chief deputy metro editor; Nelson Lampe (former chief copy editor) was named Sunday editor and, in a marriage made somewhere not in heaven. David Cole was named art director/systems editor. "In this job," said Cole, "my right brain doesn't know what my left brain is doing."

CHRONICLED: Ken Castle moved from the San Jose Mercury News to become "Outdoors" section editor . . . New economics editor is Daniel E. Rosenheim . . . Appointed to the newly created photography/graphics editor job is Howard Finberg . . . Steve Ringman was named Photographer of the Year by the National Press Photographers Association for the second time. His first win was in 1984

SOME TIMES: At the "whale," as the Los Angeles Herald used to call its morning competition, Society Writer Tia Gindick quit after 10 years to spend a year exploring Paris with her husband. Replacing her is Jeannine Stein, former society editor at the Herald . . . Long-time biz desk clerk David Van Houten promoted to copy editor in charge of a new "technical desk" . . . Big shakeup at the Los Angeles Times magazine, from which advertisers have disappeared in droves: John Brownell, Washington, D.C. bureau assignment editor, returns to become the mag's senior editor, responsible for assigning news features . . . Tyra Mead from news editor to executive news editor . . . Both will report to Editor Michael Parrish . . . Dennis McDougal, who officially covers the lowly radio beat, won two Greater Los Angeles Press Club firsts and a second for his coverage of the "We are the